A Numismatist for the Ages

Chicago dealer Harlan J. Berk is a collector of things artful, ancient and rare.

Some people collect coins, others write about them. A true numismatist does both, and more. Harlan Joseph Berk, the ANA's 2011 Numismatist of the Year, has been a hobby professional for over 45 years, these days doing business as Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. at 31 North Clark Street in Chicago. In his early years as a dealer, he specialized in U.S. coppers, Morgan dollars and ancient coins, but today he is best known to the world as an authority on the latter. (When I was an authenticator for the American Numismatic Association Certification Service in the late 1970s and early '80s, Harlan was one of our primary consultants in the field of ancients. Later, I was honored to work for him for more than 21 years.)

Harlan wrote the definitive work on the coinage of Croesus, enumerating all the denominations issued by the legendary king. His groundbreaking study identifying the decanummia of Constantine VI was cited in Wolfgang Hahn's Moneta Imperii Byzantini (Vol. III, 1981).

Besides authoring more than 100 articles on ancient coins in various publications, some of which won him Numismatic Literary Guild "Best Column" honors, he has published a number of books, including Roman Gold Coins of the Medieval World (1986) and Eastern Roman Successors of the Sestertius (1986).

In 2008 he authored 100 Greatest Ancient Coins, which the NLG named "Best Specialized Book" in the "World Coins" category. Harlan also contributed to Arthur and Ira Friedberg's Gold Coins of the World (2003 and 2008).

Despite his dedication to ancient coins, Harlan still manages to remain active in the area of U.S. numismatics. He began as a collector of early United States copper coins and in 1965 published his first article on the subject—a piece about an 1802 half cent struck on a cut-down large cent—in Numismatic Scrapbook magazine. He even determined the Sheldon number of the understrike.

When a doubled-die cent was found in circulation in 1995, he conceived and spearheaded a Professional Numismatists Guild (PNG) program to print and distribute tens of thousands of Lincoln Memorial cent "penny boards" to schoolchildren across the country. As a result, many were exposed to coin collecting for the first time.

These die-cut holders, reminiscent of the pioneering coin boards that made collecting accessible to the masses in the 1930s, then became the inspiration for a PNG five-board set designed to hold all the issues in the 10-year 50 State Quarters Program®. The boards featured photos of U.S. type coins and other educational information. Prior to their debut, the U.S. Mint contacted Harlan about his penny boards and later agreed to work with him and the PNG to distribute the quarter boards.

Over his career, Harlan has been very involved in hobby organizations. An ANA life member, he joined the Association in 1965. He also is active in the American Numismatic Society. A Fellow for 15 years, he hosted an ANS symposium "The Science of Numismatics" in Chicago in 1996.

Harlan served the PNG as secretary (1995-97), treasurer (1997-99), vice president (1999-2001) and president (2001-03). He received the organization's Friedberg Literary Award in 1987, Founders Award in 1996, Lifetime Achievement Award in 2000 and Significant Achievement Award in 2003.

As PNG president, he hammered out an agreement with the U.S. Mint so that coin dealers could buy proof and mint sets and other products at a small discount from the Mint, and then sell them to collectors at the same price as the Mint, face to face, without the hassle of mail order. He also was responsible for introducing term limitations for PNG board members.

At the ANA's annual Summer Seminar, Harlan has taught two courses on ancient coins, and at ANA conventions he has delivered three Numismatic Theatre presentations. He was appointed chairman of the ANA's David R. Cervin Ancient Coin Project in 2006, donating many of the coins the program awards to young participants. Harlan has been a contributing editor for The Numismatist since the 1990s. He is chairman of the local convention committee that helps coordinate noncompetitive exhibits at the ANA's 120th Anniversary Convention, to be held in Chicago this month. He also serves as the show's patrons chairman, raising more than $25,000.

Harlan has received the ANA's Presidential Award and Glenn Smedley Memorial Award. His last, but certainly not least, accomplishment is winning the 1996 and 1999 ANA World Series of Numismatics competitions. (I was fortunate to have been his teammate on both occasions.)

One of Harlan's pet projects is the Ancient Coins for Education (ACE) program, which allows history students to see and handle actual coins from antiquity. He became interested in the program when he heard that an archaeologist had objected to it on the grounds that collecting ancient coins was "wrong," and that such items should exist only under glass at a museum. Harlan disagrees.

His love of the arts was apparent early on. During his college days at the University of Illinois (1960-64), Harlan reviewed plays for its independent student newspaper, Daily Illini. (His night editor was a young man named Roger Ebert, who went on to write movie reviews for the Chicago Sun-Times.) While a student, Harlan exhibited one of his sculptures in the University's Krannert Art Museum.

Today, Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. employs a large staff, including his daughter, two sons and a daughter-in-law. The firm introduced the concept of "buy or bid" sales, in which items are listed at fixed prices. Collectors can either buy at the stated prices or make offers that will be considered on the closing date. Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. has conducted 175 such sales and maintains a 17,000-volume library that is available for use by scholars and collectors. In 2004 he co-founded Gemini Numismatic Auctions, which conducts major sales at various numismatic conventions.

Harlan no longer collects ancient coins, lest he compete with his customers. Instead, he has a very respectable collection of art, with an emphasis on Chicago Modernists, but also including several 14th to 16th century German paintings and 17th century Dutch works. In addition, he possesses a large collection of European Neolithic idols. A student of money in its many forms and patriarch of the family coin business, Harlan is in every way a numismatist for the ages. —Thomas K. DeLorey

HARLAN J. BERK, ANA LIFE MEMBER 762, HAS BEEN NAMED NUMISMATIST OF THE YEAR. HE WILL ACCEPT THE HONOR ON AUGUST 19 AT THE ANA WORLD'S FAIR OF MONEY IN CHICAGO.

Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. has presented an innovation in antiquities and numismatics for some time now. The system is simple. When you want an antiquity or coin in the sale, just bid the estimated price by phone, fax, web site, email or post. We will send you the antiquity or coin immediately. No waiting for the closing of the sale. Any and all antiquities or coins not sold before the closing date will be sent to the highest bidder on September 8, 2011.

EXAMPLE—You bid estimate on an item valued at $100.00 and if your bid is the 1st to reach us, you will receive the item immediately. If on the other hand, you bid $75.00 on the same item and are still the high bidder at the end of the sale, the item will be mailed to you after the closing date, September 8, 2011.

If you are ever in the area, stop in to see us! Of course, it's best to call first. Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. reserves the right to refuse any bids.

Obv: Head of the nymph Eubolia to r., wearing half-moon shaped earring, necklace and with her hair up. Rx: EYB Cow lying r.; above grapes handling from stalk; all within shallow incuse square. Ex Harlan J. Berk Ltd., List No. 1, April 1974, lot 83 (cover coin) Ex Dr. J. Hewitt T. Judd Collection, 1950s. This coin was purchased by the famous author of the U.S. Pattern book Dr. Hewitt T. Judd of Wichita, Kansas in the 1950s. In the 1960s thieves broke into his house hoping to steal his U.S. pattern collection, instead they took his ancient coins. These were then kept in the home of a mafia member for at least a decade. When they came into the market in about 1970 they were quickly identified as the stolen coins of Dr. Judd. When we brought the coins years later to show them to Dr. Judd, then a man in his mid-80s, he said with a twinkle in his eye that these were not his coins. Of course the insurance company had already paid him a princely sum for his stolen collection. While the head of the Nymph Eubolia is archaized and somewhat pedestrian, as the entire issue is, the reverse is exquisite. The artist had a wonderful knowledge of the cows of Euboea and this one reclines beautifully on the planchet with a lush bunch of grapes hanging above the middle of her back. This is a real masterpiece of the numismatic art from this time and place. Recently, a poorer example of this coin brought over $85k at auction. Choice EF.....70000

Obv: Head of Griffin with mouth opened wide and tongue outstretched; Rx: Four-part incuse square. This coin has been attributed to either Phocaea or Teos depending on who is doing the attribution. Mørholm, in his SNR article from 1971, does not make a firm attribution. We believe this coin to be from Teos based on the strong stylistic resemblance of the griffin's head to those on the staters from Teos. Klein further concurs on this with his attribution to Teos. Rx: COS - IIII Fortuna standing r. holding rudder on globe and cornucopia with bottom turned away from her body. The obverse doublestruck with a clockwise rotation of about 60 degrees: on the emperor's neck one sees the original impression of the back of his neck, the wreath tie, and the N of ANTONINVS below the neck. There are dots at the tip of many leaves in the emperor's laurel wreath; perhaps an artistic device for laying out the design, since it would be an odd location for intended berries. Apparently unpublished with the standard initial D of the obverse legend omitted, and with the mistake COS III instead of II on the reverse. A rare Alexandrian-mint denarius of Clodius Albinus, not in the standard catalogues, which has only been recognized in auction catalogues and dealers' lists since about 1970; but our variety with omitted D and III for II has not been recorded. The normal obverse legend breaks for this denarius at Rome were SEPT - ALBIN or AL - BIN, and those same two breaks also occur at Alexandria, but the awkward break SEP - T as on our piece appears to be an Alexandrian innovation that does not occur at Rome. Of eleven Alexandrian denarii of this type listed by Bickford-Smith in an unpublished draft on the Severan mint of Alexandria, four showed the break SEP - T and seven showed SEPT - ALBIN. From a rare mint for Albinus, and with two unlisted legend varieties or errors. Extremely sharp portrait of emperor. Several slight dings on reverse Mint State.....1400

R: LAETITIA TEMPORVM The spina of the Circus Maximus decorated as a ship facing l., with the turning posts at its prow and stern, a sail mounted on the central obelisk, and the spina's other monuments visible in between; above the ship, four quadrigas racing l.; below, seven animals: an ostrich at l. and bear (indistinct on this specimen) at r.; between them a lion and a lioness chasing a wild ass and a panther attacking a bison. Rare: only three specimens in Reka Devnia hoard. This famous type commemorates the chariot races and animal hunt that took place on the seventh and final day of Severus' Saecular Games in 204 AD, as described in the inscriptional acts of those games which were found in Rome in the 1870s and 1930s, and also in the text of Dio Cassius, tacked on to his description of Severus' Decennial Games of 202 AD by his Byzantine epitomator as we can now see. The games consisted of chariot races, indicated by the racing quadrigas in the coin type, and then a hunt of 700 beasts, 100 each of 'lions, lionesses, panthers, bears, bison, wild asses, ostriches', which were released in large groups from a receptacle shaped like a boat. As C. Clay has observed, the seven kinds of animals named by both Dio and the inscriptional acts are also depicted in the coin type: on good specimens, especially the aureus BMC pl. 34.4, the ostrich and the bear are clear, the lion has a mane, the ass has long ears, the bison has horns and a hump. Two large felines remain, of which we may suppose that the one accompanying the lion is the lioness and the one attacking the bison is the panther. On our denarius as on that in the BM (pl. 35.19), however, the panther attacking the bison has been omitted and, instead, the ass running from the lion and lioness and looking back at them has been given a second head with antelope-like horns, as though to represent two animals overlapping each other. Obv: IMP C P LIC VALERIANVS P AVG Bust radiate, draped, cuirassed r., seen from front. R: AP - OLINI CONSERVA Apollo standing l., holding branch and leaning on lyre placed on rock. Valerian's obverse legend at Rome started as IMP C P LIC VALERIANVS AVG, then advanced to IMP C P LIC VALERIANVS P F AVG. Our coin, with IMP C P LIC VALERIANVS P AVG, may be a brief transitional form between the two main forms, or may on the other hand just be a die cutter's error. The APOLINI CONSERVA reverse type of our coin normally occurs with Valerian's first obverse legend, without P F. Göbl, pl. 130, T8, knew only one antoninianus with the same variant obverse legend as on our coin, namely a piece in the Baldersdorf hoard from a different obverse die and with reverse FIDES MILITVM, which Göbl classified as an engraver's error. 552. HADRIAN; 117-138 AD. Rome, c. 132 AD. Sestertius, 24.01g. Rev. type var. of BM-1660, C-55 (25 Fr.), and RIC-890. Obv: [HAD]RIANVS - AVG [COS III P P] Bust laureate, draped r. Rx: ADVENTVI - [AVG IVD[A]EAE] S - C Hadrian raising right hand in greeting standing before altar at which Judaea sacrifices; left and right of Judaea, naked boys facing her and holding palm branches; bull by altar. Perhaps an unpublished variety: usually the boy before Judaea stands left facing the altar, not right facing Judaea as on our coin. Cayón, Sestercios II, p. 13, illustrates a similar coin, but the reverse is tooled so the details are unreliable. The position of S C on our coin, in field rather than in exergue, is also unusual. The boys accompanying Judaea, who appear in no other 'Arrival' type of Hadrian, may refer to Hadrian's plan to establish a new city called Aelia Capitolina on the site of Jerusalem, which had been destroyed in 70 AD. Judaea's symbol was the palm tree, which may be the reason why the boy are holding palm branches. While this coin is worn, it shows a new variety of a rare and very desirable type. VG.....2000

Obv: KOPH - COTEIPA Draped bust of Kore r., hair in knot behind neck, wearing oak wreath with wheat ear at top. Rx: [AVP ANTONE]NIAN - K - VZIKHN ΔIC around, [NE]OKOP in exergue, Bare-headed Caracalla on horse pacing l., raising r. hand in greeting and holding spear or scepter diagonally in l. hand. Apparently unpublished reverse type for Caracalla at Cyzicus, referring to his passage through Asia Minor in 214-5 including probable visit to Cyzicus. Two comparable types are known on medallions of Caracalla at Cyzicus, one showing Caracalla sacrificing at an altar between two vexilla, the other showing him standing and raising his right hand in greeting before a statue of Serapis seated with Cerberus at his feet: see SNG Paris-776 and 778. In addition, the legends of these coins boast two new honors that were probably granted in connection with the imperial visit: a second neocorate and the title 'Antoninian' for the city and its inhabitants, derived of course from Caracalla's own dynastic name 'Antoninus'. One of those two neocorates was for Kore herself, who appears on the obverse of our coin, as we can tell from another reverse type of Caracalla at Cyzicus, showing the square shrine of Kore at Cyzicus alongside an ordinary temple, with the title 'holder of two neocorates': see SNG Paris-782 and Imhoof-Blumer, Zur gr. u. röm. Münzkunde, pp. 41-46 and pl. III.16. That our coin, despite its lack of imperial portrait, belongs to this same commemorative issue under Caracalla is evident first from the titles 'Antoninian' and 'holder of two neocorates' on the reverse, and second from the fact, noted by H. von Fritze, Die autonome Kupferprägung von Kyzikos, Nomisma X, 1917, p. 29, that a Kore obverse die of the same size and style as ours shares a Galley reverse die of Cyzicus as 'Antoninian' and 'holder of two neocorates', with an obverse die of the bearded Caracalla himself, namely SNG Paris-784. The Kore obverse die of our coin was also used with the reverses Hades carrying off Kore, von Fritze, p. 27, no. 41, pl. VI.34, and Attis reclining, Gorny & Mosch 152, 2006, 1780 = 126, 2003, 1806. This coin bears a highly unusual Hellenistic image of Kore on the obverse. The reverse shows the emperor on horseback and has a somewhat thick red encrustation in some areas aEF / VF950

722. EGYPTIAN STEATITE DUCK SCARABOID, New Kingdom, 1550-1070 BC. Small blue-green-glazed steatite duck scaraboid. The top of this scaraboid is not fashioned as the usual beetle, but rather as a sleeping duck that is resting its head upon its feathered back. The feathers of the wings and tail are very carefully indicated. The base is inscribed with the name of the god "Amun-Re." The empty spaces at either end of the base are occupied by baskets, often used on scarabs as a space-filler because of their curved bottoms. Ex Midwest Collection formed before 1967. L. 3/8" (1 cm)1250
723. EGYPTIAN DEEP BLUE FAIANCE USHABTI FOR A SCRIBE OF THE TREASURY, New Kingdom, 1550-1070 BC. Extremely well preserved ushabti in brilliant deep turquoise blue. The wig and glyphs are done in black ink with full original glaze still present on entire surface. Translation reads, "The Osiris, scribe of the treasury, Setmose, true of voice". Those who could read and write became scribes and were powerful and important people in Egyptian culture. Setmose from whom this ushabti is for ascended to one of the most powerful positions of official life in the treasury. He most likely was treated very respectfully and would have been supplied food out of the royal stores. Ex Midwest Collection formed before 1967. H. 4 3/4"4250
724. EGYPTIAN STEATITE INLAY OF QUEEN TIYE, WIFE OF AMUNHOTEP III AND MOTHER OF AKHENATEN, New Kingdom, Dynasty 18, c. 1398 BC-1338 BC. Dark blue glazed inlay inscribed, "Tiye, may she live." Ex Chicago Collection, acquired in the late 1950's. H. 1 1/8" (2.9 cm)1850
725. EGYPTIAN FAIENCE FRAGMENT OF ROYAL USHABTI OF SETI I, FATHER OF RAMESSES II, 19th Dynasty, 1294-1279 BC. Extremely rare fragment of a royal ushabti of Seti I, son of Ramesses I and father of Ramesses II. The name Seti means "of Set", which indicates that he was consecrated to the god Set. Upon his ascension, he took the prenomen Menmaatre meaning "Eternal is the Justice of Re." The preserved section of this fragment translates, "Menmaatre, true of voice, he says: 'O shabti. .to you at anytime.' Ex Chicago Collection, acquired in Cairo in the late 1950's. H. 1 1/4" (3 cm)1850
726. EGYPTIAN FAIENCE USHABTI, Late Period, ca. 715-330 BC. Dark blue faience ushabti with glyphs on either side. The inscription reads: "Illuminate Osiris Mes, born of Heker, true of voice." Ex Midwest Collection formed before 1967. H. 2 1/8". With wood stand 3 1/4"750
727. EGYPTIAN LARGE BRONZE ISIS AND HORUS, Late Period, ca. 715-330 BC. Isis wearing a crown with a solar disk, horns of Hathor and a Uraeus. Shown in her usual manner, seated as she suckles her infant son Horus, she conveys the sense of ultimate maternal love and affection. Isis was the goddess who encapsulated the virtues of the archetypal Egyptian wife and mother. She was the sister-wife to Osiris and mother to Horus. A copy of the original invoice from R.W. Richardson Antiques, London, 1962, is available. In wonderful condition with light to dark brown patination. From the back, Isis's wig shows etched design. H. 6 1/8"4000
728. EGYPTIAN FAIENCE SEKHMET, Late Period, ca. 715-330 BC. A brilliant green faience composition amulet of the lioness-headed goddess Sekhmet, depicted with her left leg forward, her right arm held tightly at her side with clenched fist and her right holding a staff before her. Suspension loop intact. Tip of left ear missing, minor repair at the ankle. Beautiful, elegant example. Ex Midwest Collection formed before 1967. H. 2 3/4"1500
729. EGYPTIAN BRONZE AMUN, Late Period, ca. 715-330 BC. The striding god is depicted in the conventional form of a Late Period bronze wearing a tunic, his crown now missing. Amun was one of the most important gods in ancient Egypt and his temple at Karnak is among the best surviving ancient Egyptian temples from the New Kingdom. A nice example of an Egyptian bronze in a more rare god. Heavy green patination in some areas. H. 3 3/4"1875
730. EGYPTIAN WOOD PTAH, Late Period, ca. 715-330 BC. Pthah was originally the creator god of Memphis, gradually, however, the deity of this god became merged with another hawk deity, Sokar, who served as a funerary deity. By the Late Period this combined god was also absorbed into the identity of Osiris, the god of the dead, thereby resulting in the images of Pthah Sokar Osiris. During the Late Period, this composite deity was regularly included in funerary equipment. The piece is of mummified form with the majority of the front intact with traces of pigments. Losses to the back and side. Ex Midwest Collection formed before 1967. H. 13 1/2" (34 cm)1800
731. EGYPTIAN FAIENCE USHABTI, 26th Dynasty, 664-525 BC. Large pale-green ushabti of Nebes, born of Tasherite. Six incised inscriptions is a version of the usual ushabti spell which translates, "Illuminate the Osiris Nebes, born of Tasherite, true of voice. He says: 'O you shabtis! If the Osiris Nebes is assigned to do work in the necropolis, after obstacles have been removed from a man at his duties, "Here he is!" you shall say. And if you are assigned at anytime to cultivate in the field or to irrigate riverbanks, to transport. " In wonderful condition. Ex Midwest Collection formed before 1967. H. 6 1/4"4250
732. EGYPTIAN LAPIS LAZULI EYE OF HORUS (WADJET) AMULET, Saite Period, 26th Dynasty, ca. 664-525 BC. An amuletic Eye of Horus, or Wadjet amulet, of delicately detailed blue lapis. The Eye of Horus amulet represents the eye lost by the god Horus in his great battle with the evil god Set. Horus was triumphant, and as a consequence of defeating Set, avenged the murder of his father, Osiris. The god Thoth restored Horus' eye through magic in this popular myth and so began a belief in the restorative process of an amulet in the shape of Horus' lost eye. The wearing or possessing of this amulet was believed to restore health to the infirm and to endow the deceased with life and power in the afterlife. This amulet features a perforation for stringing. In pristine condition rejoined from two pieces. L. 1 1/4" (3 cm)2000

CERAMICS

733. CORINTHIAN TERRACOTTA ARYBALLOS, ca. 650 BC. Pale buff pottery with characteristic purple, brown and black decoration. Incised details. A panther on either side of an eagle, blobby incised rosettes in the field. Underside with concentric rings. Broad flat lip with flaring rays. H. 2 1/4"1250
734. ATTIC LARGE BLACK GLAZED LEKYTHOS, ca. 5th Century BC. Extremely large lekythos with black glaze throughout. Expertly restored. H. 11 1/4" (28.6 cm)2200
737. MAGNA GRAECIA WARE "ARETHUSA DEKADRACHM KYLIX", Late 4th-Early 3rd Century BC. These vases were either made to commemorate either the Assinarian festival, instituted in 412 BC in celebration of the Syracusan victory over the Athenian fleet the previous year or the Syracusan victory over Leontini in 422 BC. What makes these vases so unique is the center tondo which renders the reverse of a dekadrachm of Syracuse created by the artist, Euainetos. This reverse shows Arethusa surrounded by four dolphins. According to myth, Artemis helped Arethusa to elude the importunities of the Peloponnesian river-god Alpheus by turning her into a spring, which plunged into the earth onto the island of Orygia, at the harbour of Syracuse, where its fresh water flows into the salt water of the sea. The dekadrachm is surrounded by palmette patterns as well as geometric design patterns which cover the entire inside of the kyllix. Other than a minor chip to edge of kyllix, this piece is in perfect condition with no restoration. A must for any coin/vase collector. Ex Private Collection of Harlan J. Berk, Ex Pierre Strauss, Munzen und Medaillen, Basel, by private treaty 1980's. H. 2 1/2" W. 6 3/4" (H. 6cm W 7cm)8000
738. OLD HITTITE TERRACOTTA FOUR WHEELED CHARIOT, ca. 2000 BC. This Old Hittite chariot or battle-car is modeled on an earlier type of four wheeled chariot in use in Mesopotamia since Early Dynastic times. The chariot has a rectangular shaped body pierced for two axles for attachment of front and rear solid wheels. The front of the chariot is pierced for a draft pole for attachment to the draft animals. Such four wheeled chariots had a high front guard for the driver and were kept open in the back for the spear thrower or archer. This piece has a very high front with two arching openwork designs and a crosshatched pattern. The wooden axles have been restored. The Hittites were Indo-European invaders of the Near East in the second millennium and were famous toward the end of that millennium for their military prowess, namely their use of the war chariot. These pieces are most likely votives or tomb regalia. See "The Anatolian Civilisations" Istanbul, May 22- October 30, 1983, Turkish Ministry of Culture and Tourism. H. 5 3/4" L. 5 3/4"2000
739. MAGNA GRAECIA TERRACOTTA BUST OF A GODDESS, Archaic Period, ca. 7th Century BC. Her hair worn long over the shoulders and stylized with rhythmic waves. Her ears adorned with disk earrings. Beautifully modeled and with a standard archaic expression. H. 7"2000
740. GREEK RHODIAN TERRACOTTA PLASTIC APHRODITE VESSEL, ca. mid 6th Century BC. Aphrodite stands holding the material of her himation in one hand, her other had at her side clutching the material of the chiton she wears under the himation. She is wearing a polos which is actually the lip of the vessel. There is a chip from the left cheek and polos. Crack at the waist, otherwise intact with no restoration. H. 10"4000
741. MAGNA GRAECIA TERRACOTTA VOTIVE KORE, ca. 5th Century BC. This kore (young maiden) molded in relief, her features well defined. Deep orange colored terracotta. H. 6 1/4"700
742. ROMAN TERRACOTTA EROTIC LAMP, ca. 2nd Century AD. The lovers engage in an erotic act atop the body of the lamp, a large phallus. Areas of restoration. L. 5 3/4" (14.6 cm)4850

WEAPONS

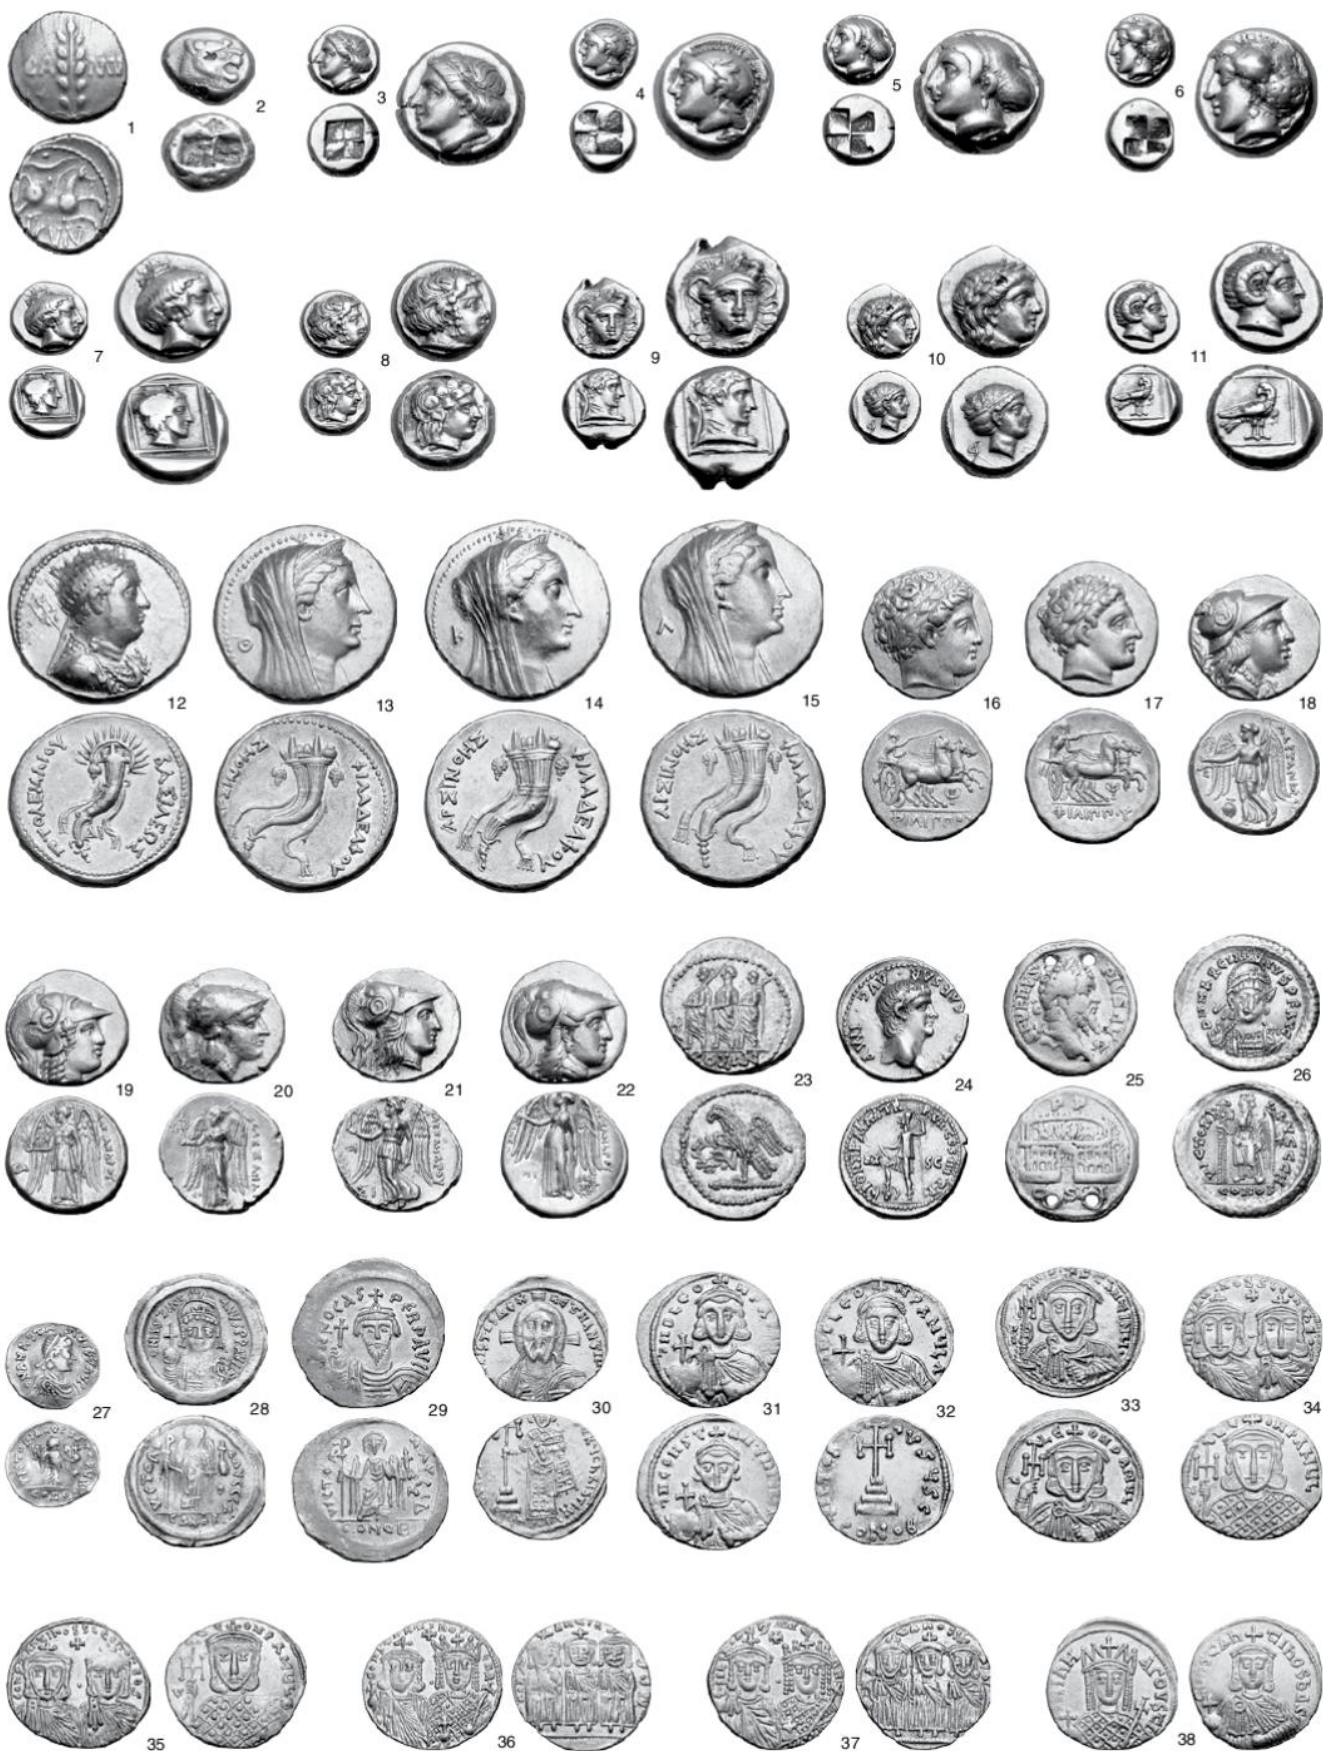

The following pieces (lots 743-763) are part of a large European collection and were acquired between 1980-2002. The gentleman was an avid collector of antiquities, particularly those from the British Isles. Through the collector's meticulous record keeping we are able to include the find spots and date of acquisition of many of the pieces. Our collection features a broad spectrum of pieces spanning a vast period of time from the European Stone Age through the European Bronze Age. The artifacts range from the deep Paleolithic hand axe to the finer stone implements of the Mesolithic and Neolithic to the bronze axe heads of the European Bronze Age. The flint and stone hand axe was the most important tool of man through the Paleolithic to the Neolithic. These pointed or ovate instruments were used and discarded in large numbers in the butchering of carcasses while on the hunt. The later Neolithic farmer relied heavily on the hand axe for forest clearance giving way for agricultural advance. The importance of the axe is shown not only in their numbers but also in the effort devoted to the production of each piece. Materials were chosen for durability as well as workability to control shape, balance and sharpness. The first metal artifacts arrived in Britain towards the end of the second millennium BC. They were brought into the farming villages of Britain by the so-called Beaker People from mainland Europe. Sometime after 2000 BC, the valuable technique of copper working was learned by the local British farmers. Early Bronze Age tools such as the flat copper axe, short bladed dagger, knife and tanged spear head with side loops were produced. A new level of metal working was reached in Britain around 1500 BC. This new phase, the Middle Bronze Age, was marked by the production of sturdier tools and a wider range of weaponry and implements. The palstave was produced in near mass production at this time and the socketed spear head, tanged chisel, leather punch and awl (pointed spike) made their appearance. The people of Britain busily traded bronze goods through the Late Bronze Age, leading to a wide range of extremely varied tools with stylistic influences from throughout Europe and even the Mediterranean. The tools of this late period continued to be used through 600 BC and later into the Iron Age.

MISCELLANEOUS

765. ROMAN SET OF THREE IMPORTANT CROSSBOW FIBULAE, ca. first half of the 4th Century AD. This grouping of three fibulae found together many decades ago within the Byzantine or Eastern Roman Christian Empire, the center of Christianity during this time period. Two of these wonderful brooches are constructed of gilt silver while the third fibula is gold and engraved with a cross. During the reign of Diocletian or Galerius, no Roman would have displayed Christian symbolism as they persecuted Christians vigorously. Thus, it could only be during the reign of Constantine the Great, and then only after 324 A.D. which marks the death of Licinius, Emperor of the East. After this date, Constantine was sole emperor and Christianity could be practiced openly. The gold fibula must be one of the first representations of the cross worn by a Roman as well as one of the earliest representations of the cross, period. The fibulae, quite massive in relation to their typical size, are of hollow construction because of the value of the material they are made of and to give size with the logical weight. The gilt silver pieces have very large onion shaped knobs, a horseshoe bow and wide leg with notches and decorative volutes along the edge. The gold fibula is of very similar design with large onion shaped knobs and horseshoe shaped bow, although it is a bit smaller overall. The engraved cross takes up almost the entire surface of the leg. The pins of these fibulae are missing, otherwise, they are in excellent condition. Silver L. 3 1/26", Silver L. 3 3/16", Gold L. 2 3/8".12500
 766. ROMAN PALE GREEN GLASS GOBLET, 5th-6th Century AD. Possibly from Egypt or Syria, this type of goblet is produced by pulling out glass from the bubble of the bowl and pulling and crimping it into shape. Marks of the tool used to flatten the base are clearly visible as slanting lines. This particular piece is in excellent shape and of fine form and balance with no restoration. Goblets such as these are difficult to acquire. H. 4" (10 cm).3500
- ## PRE-COLUMBIAN
767. PERUVIAN NAZCA POLYCHROME POTTERY KEROS, ca. 200-500 AD. With convex sides and rounded base, the exterior painted in red, brown and tan paint with different bands of geometric design. No other restoration other than a stable flange crack near the top which has been reinforced with epoxy. Ex Parke-Bernet, New York, June 13th, 1967, Lot 212. H. 6 1/4" (15.9 cm).600
 768. PRE-COLUMBIAN TARASCAN POTTERY EFFIGY VESSEL, Colima, ca. 300-900 AD. Effigy vessel in the form of a human head with flattened base, backward-slanting face, small mouth, triangular-shaped nose, and semi-circular ears. No restoration. Ex Parke-Bernet, New York, May 4th, 1967, Lot 147. H. 5 1/2".850
- ## ASIAN ART
769. CHINESE PAIR OF TANG POLYCHROME POTTERY DANCERS, circa 8th Century BC. The pair of beautifully modeled dancers well illustrates Tang conceptions of beauty. The pair stand in long robes with their elaborate shoes peering out from underneath their gowns. Their bodies twist delicately and their arms, covered in long sleeves, are poised around their bodies as if dancing. The pieces have extensive remains of black, red and white pigments. Restorations to arms. A wonderful and rare Tang type. Collected before 1910. H. 11 1/2" (29.2 cm each).2500
 770. CHINESE SANCAI GLAZED TANG DYNASTY HORSE AND EQUESTRIENNE, ca. late 7th Century AD. This sancai, or triple glaze, piece is done in amber, green and straw glazes. The horse stands foursquare with its head gently pointing down. The horse wears elaborate adornments and saddle cloth. Saddled atop is a maiden in heavy flowing gown, her outfit predominantly green glaze, her face delicately modeled. Restorations to the legs and the base. H. 13" L. 10".2000
 771. CHINESE MING BLUE GLAZED POTTERY VASE, ca. 16th Century AD. This is a very beautiful example of Ming glazed pottery in the desired brilliant blue color. The vase is roughly square in form and based on an ancient design with three separate registers of predominantly floral pattern. Excellent condition. Beautiful color with only a few chips. Restored. H. 8 1/4" (21 cm).750
 772. THAI SUKHOTHAI BRONZE PIPE BASE, ca. 16th Century AD. This is a nicely modeled Sukhothai figure of a Kinnaree, a Thai mythical being. The piece is somewhat enigmatic but is most likely the joint on a pipe where the Kinnaree holds one end of the pipe and its body forms a right angle and opening to another fitting. This piece is quite old and modeled in the classic Sukhothai form but has later (possibly 18th-19th century) pigments. The figure is well-adorned with its tail fanned in the back. H. 6" (15.2 cm).600
 773. JAPANESE BASSE-TAILLE CLOISONNE VASE SIGNED BY KUMENO, Meiji Period, 1868-1912 AD. Produced in basse-taille, which is French for cut low, is an enamelling technique in which the artist creates a low-relief pattern in metal, usually in silver as this piece has been done or gold, by engraving or chasing. The entire pattern is created in such a way that its highest point is lower than the surrounding metal. A translucent enamel is then applied to the metal, allowing light to reflect from the relief and creating an artistic effect. This particular piece is rare in this fact that its rim is opened like a flower. The rest of the vase is covered with swimming koi of various sizes swimming among vegetation. On the back done within the enamel is the stamp of Kumeno Teitaro and underneath stamped in the silver base is the workshop stamp. Minor stabilization to the edge of the rims of the flower pedestal top. The body of the piece is in amazing condition. A true rarity from a master craftsman of the period. H. 6".2000
 774. INDIAN WHITE MARBLE STELE OF GANESH, ca. 19th Century AD. This small stele depicts the beloved elephant headed Hindu god of good fortune, Ganesh, seated, his four arms holding his manifold attributes and his vehicle, the rat, seated at the base of his plinth. Scattered abrasions. H. 10 1/4" W. 5 3/4" (26 x 14.6 cm).750
